TULLYTOWN.

The entertainment which was to have been given at the Men's Hall last Monday evening by the Trenton Men's Club did not take place as advertised, the company having made other arrangements. They now intend to give their entertainment in the M. E. church on Monday evening, the 25th inst., for the benefit of the church. Their excellent entertainment in that church a few weeks ago should insure them a good attendance.

Tullytown's representation at the Republican Convention at Doylestown on Monday last was rather small and apparently as devoid of enthusiasm as the rest of the convention. Mr. Amos B. Hendy, of this borough, is to be congratulated upon his selection as the unanimous choice of the convention for delegate to the State convention from the Fourth District. Mr. Walter Leedom, his opponent, very wisely heeded the advice of his political friends, and withdrew from the hopeless contest.

Right here it may be in place to say a word as to the advisability of passing by the 11 tollers in the Republican ranks for comparatively new men who have simply floated into the sea of politics on a wave of alleged reform, and who are quite likely to drift away again on the next tide. Mr. Hendy has been a life-long Republican, actively identified with the party's interest, and is deserving of any honor the party can confer upon him. But, recurring again to the question of rewards to the faithful in the ranks, many Republicans are asking themselves what special claim Mr. Wagoner has upon the party as a candidate for Governor. While the instructions at Monday's convention probably reflected the wishes of a great many, possibly a majority of the Republicans of Bucks county, there are here at home, and there is a reason to believe that the same feeling prevails throughout the county, at least a very considerable minority who fail to find any just cause for the clamor against the Hon. W. A. Stone. He has been an active and consistent Republican, an able Congressman; his character is above reproach.

Why should the alleged sins and shortcomings of others be visited upon him? Mr. Wagoner has been looked, and placed in the field upon a so-called campaign for reform, by men who in Philadelphia have become notorious as bores and disorganizers. He is now venting his spleen on corruption in the party organization in general, and upon Mr. Stone in particular; yet, it will be remembered, he supported the organization in 1887 so actively that he was appointed Postmaster General in President Harrison's cabinet. In the campaign of 1890 he opposed the "reform" movement similar to the present one. There are some of the residents of his borough who remember his hasty return from Washington in company with Mr. Blaine upon the close of that campaign, to speak for the regular nominee, in the Philadelphia Academy of Music, and who heard his famous "what do you think he is whistling" speech at that time; and they prophesy that after the second day of June, Mr. Wagoner will be whistling "Auld Lang Syne," but "Home, Sweet Home."

The working classes as a rule are not enthusiastic over Mr. Wagoner's candidacy, and while none will gainsay the fact that he would make an able and efficient executive, it is present pace as a reformer, assumed only after his failure in the contest for United States Senator, makes one suspect that he is still smarting under the lash of defeat, and, in view of his past record, his present status and utterances, savor somewhat of the Pharisees.

Mrs. Claude Schreyer, who occupies the old Hunt property near Doyle, has recently completed a life size portrait of John R. Stockhouse, Esq. This portrait has received the warmest commendation from his family and friends for its life-like appearance and artistic execution. Mrs. Schreyer and her husband, Mr. Claude Schreyer, have resided in this vicinity for the past two years, employing a portion of their time in sketching and painting, and spend the remaining time in Philadelphia, where Mr. Schreyer has his studio, and Mrs. Schreyer a class in painting. Both are graduates of the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts, and have also studied abroad. Mrs. Schreyer contemplates organizing a class here or in Bristol sometime this spring.

The water works of Mr. Henry Lovett, proprietor of the Black Horse Hotel, are now in operation, and are satisfactory barring a few leaks in the water tank, which will be attended to at once.

Mr. Warner Wright, who has been indisposed and confined to his house for the past few days, is again about and expects to soon return to business.

The drifters for shad took their biggest catch of the season last Monday morning. Messrs. Barrett and Parr took the lead with a total of thirty-two in two drifts.

Mr. Suger Chadwick, of Philadelphia, spends most of his time now at his Tullytown farm. He contemplates moving there with his family to spend the summer.

Tullytown wheelmen are again reviving interest in the bicycle path, and hope that the Bristol Wheelmen's Road Association will extend the path to Morrisville this summer. It is believed that Trenton wheelmen can be interested and induced to co-operate in extending the path in their direction.

Rev. Wm. H. Graff, rector of Holy Comforter Memorial P. E. church, Philadelphia, has rented "Gladholm," the residence of Mr. A. B. Wagenknight, for the summer season, and expects to occupy it some time next month.

The annual complaints of over assessments of property are now very much in evidence. There seems to be a general impression, for which there is some foundation in fact, that the owners of small properties are assessed higher in proportion to actual valuation than the larger ones.

Miss Mary R. Ross, of Lancaster, a descendant of a signer of the Declaration of Independence, has just donated $500 to the Home for Friendless Children, at Lancaster.

MORRISVILLE.

At the close of the regular Wednesday evening service last week in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church, Mr. Burgess requested those in attendance to remain, when Mr. F. C. Pryor in behalf of the congregation presented the pastor, Rev. F. C. Jennings, with a purse containing over forty dollars as an Easter gift. The present was a complete surprise to the pastor, who responded in an appropriate and thankful address.

Rev. F. C. Jennings, of the Presbyterian church, exchanged pulpits last Sunday morning with Rev. Dr. Brooks, of the Prospect Street church, Trenton. An announcement was made for all Christian Endeavor members to attend service on Wednesday of this week when Rev. James Patterson, of Langhorne, addressed the society.

Great preparations are being made by the Morrisville base ball club for their opening game on the thirtieth of this month with the Tacony club. The players are keeping up their daily practice and will no doubt be in good condition when the season opens. Manager Burns says the first game must be won by us. It has been decided to make the opening game an auspicious one. The Morrisville band, recently organized, will make its debut on that day and favor the visitors to the ball park with some selections. Council and other borough officials have been invited to attend, and Burgess Estenger will open the first game of the season by throwing the first ball. The game will begin at four o'clock, and the principal industries of the place will close for the afternoon in order that the employees may have an opportunity to attend. According to all present indications the ball park will be thronged on the day the season opens. The committee which has had this matter in charge said the fence must be erected by that time. The committee is indefatigable in its efforts to secure enough advertisements to pay for the fence, and can now make a very favorable report. The bids for building the fence will be submitted this week, and before the end of the week the contract will be awarded to a responsible builder and work begun immediately. When completed the fence will be about eight feet high and fifteen hundred feet around. The club has received from Mr. Heir Young and Dr. I. N. Woodman a gift of a handsome medicine chest filled with bandages, medicine, etc., required in accident cases.

The appointed committees of Council for the ensuing year are as follows: Finance and Public Property—Titus, Ryan and Hutchinson; Streets—Tomlinson, Dorian and Titus; Lights—Dorian, Hutchinson and Cox; Sanitation and Poor—Cox, Tomlinson and Hutchinson; Ordinance—Hutchinson, Tomlinson and Titus; Fire Protection—Ryan, Dorian and Cox; Water Works—Gans, Ryan, Dorian and Titus. The President of Council is made ex-officio a member of all committees, and chairman of the Water Works committee.

Ground was broken last Monday morning for the building of a new kiln at the Robertson Art Tile Company's works. The company has a prosperous season ahead and is working overtime to fill orders.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company made some temporary changes to its tracks during the rebuilding of the north railroad bridge across the river. Two tracks instead of four are now in service between Morrisville and South Trenton. Trains both east and west bound are now crossing the lower or south bridge. The extensive improvements which the company has for some time past been contemplating have now begun.

The grading and paving of their properties fronting on Bridge and Smith streets, including grounds around the new station, will soon be done and will present a beautiful appearance.

The Morrisville Library Association, which has already a promising future success, held a regular meeting last Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. Howell on Washington street. Notwithstanding that the evening was rainy and the association but recently organized with a small membership, there were enough members present for a quorum to transact business. The special Membership committee appointed at the last meeting whose duties are to increase the membership, proposed the names of three persons who have decided to join the association and give their aid to the laudable work.

The Morrisville cafe has been opened by Alex. McLees on Bridge street. He is ready to serve parties and sociables with ice cream, cakes, etc., at reasonable rates.

The many friends of Miss Nellie Gallagher will be pleased to learn of her convalescence at the home of her parents on Moreau street.

NEWPORTVILLE.

Frank Magill, youngest son of "Squire" James Magill, died at his residence in Bristol township on Monday afternoon at one o'clock. The deceased had taken cold, which terminated in a typhoid pneumonia, with which he died. He was a young man full of energy and great promise, of a kind and loving disposition, and highly esteemed by a host of friends. He had a bright future before him and had just started out at farming. He leaves a wife and child to mourn his loss, and his family and relatives have the sympathy of the entire community in which he lived, in this, their sad bereavement.

THE BRISTOL CARPET MILLS.

The Bristol Carpet Mills were formerly transferred last Friday by the Bristol Improvement Co. to their occupants, Thomas L. Leedom & Co. who recently purchased them for $80,000.

The mills compare very favorably with the largest ones in Philadelphia. The main mill being three and four stories high, 500x52 feet. The spinning department adjoining the main mill is two stories high by 22x54 feet. Other buildings are a dye house 140x50 feet; weave shed 100x55 feet, besides a number of smaller buildings, which altogether make a total of over 100,000 square feet of floor space devoted to the manufacture of carpets and rugs.

The mill employs 550 hands mostly men and women, there being not two dozen minors on the premises. There are 215 looms used in the manufacture of ingrain carpet, art squares and rugs, of which there are 140 power four quarter looms, 22 art square looms, 24 rug looms and ten two yard welt looms.

The wool used comes mostly from China, Russia, Persia and Mediterranean ports, and is imported directly by the firm, which also uses a great deal of domestic wool.

The wool, from the time it is purchased until it is sold as the finished product is handled at these mills, where all the spinning, scouring, dyeing, winding and weaving is done.

The designing of the patterns of the carpets and rugs is done by a corps of competent artists on the premises. This season's lines and effects are the most varied ever turned out by the firm, one among them especially worthy of notice being a meditation art.

The samples are made on hand looms and will be taken by the ten traveling salesmen of the firm, who leave in May to visit every state in the Union and sell direct to the retail dealers, thus giving them the opportunity of purchasing direct from the manufacturer and save the profit of the middle man.

The mill, which is running on full time with a full complement of hands, has its own electric light plant to give the necessary illumination in over time work.

Three to four cars are loaded and unloaded daily at the railroad siding, which runs alongside the mill, with the finished product for shipment to all parts of the United States. The firm of Thomas L. Leedom & Co. has, besides the main office at Bristol, branch offices in New York, Boston, Chicago and San Francisco. The members of the firm are Thomas L. Leedom, Charles Leedom, Samuel Thomas and James W. Tynd.

There were no services in Grace church on Sunday, on account of Rev. Dr. J. T. Wright being in New York where he and Mrs. Wright expect to spend a few weeks quietly to enable the Dr. to regain some of his lost strength and be better fitted to undertake the summer labors.

The Rev. Samuel Johnson and wife are visiting friends in South Bethlehem this week; they are expected back by Sunday.

The family of Mr. George Harrison, proprietor of the Delaware Valley Advance, has been increased, and it is a girl.

Mrs. Douglass leaves a husband and four children, George and Howard Douglass, Mrs. J. P. Magill and Lizzie Douglass, and a large number of relatives. The funeral will be on Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment in Beechwood Cemetery.

Every one gives it the highest praise. H. Grindel, Druggist, Walnut and Allison Sts., Cincinnati, O., says this of his trade: "I sell my share of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and my customers that have used this preparation speak of it in the highest terms."

Death of Robert Purvis.

Robert Purvis died at his residence, 1901 Mt. Vernon street, Philadelphia, on Friday, the 14th inst., in his 88th year, of disease incident to old age. Mr. Purvis was well known in Bristol. He visited here often, and his second wife, formerly Miss Tacie Townsend, was a resident of this place. Mr. Purvis' career during his long life was an eventful one. He was the grandson of a Moravian maiden captured and taken as a slave to Charleston, S. C., where a German flour merchant named Judah, liberated her from bondage and married her.

Mr. Purvis was the last survivor of the sixty odd persons who organized the American Anti-Slavery Society in Philadelphia on December 18th, 1833. When a young man he formed the acquaintance of William Lloyd Garrison, whom he helped financially in the publication of his "Sentiments of Universal Emancipation." His appearance at the organization of the Anti-Slavery Society was thus described by the poet Whittier, who was present: "A young man rose to speak whose appearance at once arrested my attention. I think I have never seen a finer face and figure, and his manner, words and bearing were in keeping. 'Who is he?' I asked of one of the Pennsylvania delegates. 'Robert Purvis, of this city, a colored man,' was the answer." "Mr. Purvis and Whittier," says the Philadelphia Ledger, "and the distinction of being mobbed together in Pennsylvania Hall one year later. State societies were formed subordinate to the National organization, and Mr. Purvis was president of the Pennsylvania society. When that other famous organization, the 'Underground Railroad,' which helped so many slaves to freedom, was formed in 1838, he became its official head."

The funeral of Mr. Purvis took place on Monday morning from the Spring Garden Unitarian church, Girard avenue, below Fifteenth street, the Rev. Dr. Hinkley, pastor of the church, conducted the services. Among the large number of personal friends of the deceased present were Dr. A. C. McArthur, Joshua L. Bailey, Robert L. Carson, Colonel Higginson, of Boston, Susan B. Anthony, Dr. and Mrs. C. Newlin Paine, Joel J. Bailey, Richmond L. Wright, Edward M. Needles and Alfred Love.

Where to Buy Coal.
You cannot go wrong in buying your coal of W. F. Leedom. It is prepared right, it is delivered right, it is weighed right, and our scales are balanced by our drivers, who weigh their own wagons, and who weigh their own coal. The public is invited to step on our scales, at any time, themselves and test the truth of the scales. I have never conducted any business on this plan. Question any man who is working for me or who has been paid for me and you will know for yourself. I have never published such statements as "weight guaranteed" from this fact that I have noticed all the short weight men in the coal business have paraded that notice. I employ good men and pay them living wages, and they weigh all your coal. My clerk and I never weigh any coal except when we have a new driver, and this is seldom, as men who are used right do not change places if they do right. We are selling Stone, Leedom, and Leedom, for $5.00 per 2000 lbs. or $6.50 for 2240 lbs. Nice 2 1/2 Chestnut for $4.50 for 2000 lbs. Wm. F. Leedom.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The Bucks County Republican Convention for the election of delegates to the State Convention to be held at Harrisburg on the second of next June, was held at Doylestown on last Monday morning. The meeting was one of the largest conventions for the election of delegates ever held and the day was characterized by the extreme harmony prevalent in the Republican ranks and the ease with which the slated candidates were nominated. The districts were all represented with the exception of three from the upper end.

Among the Bristolians at Doylestown were: Hon. B. F. Gilkeson, George W. Strauser, Captain Frank G. Edwards, E. W. Minister, Harry Smith, John S. Worrall, Joseph S. Thomas, Albert Leechner, George Wright, B. C. Foster, H. H. H. Poole, William Bont, Jesse O. Thomas, Jr., Franklin Gilkeson, David Townsend, Edward Minister, Samuel Milnor, Fred J. Myers, Harry Wright, Frank Plame and John T. Smith.

On the street before the call of the convention were to be seen all of the retiring members of the State Legislature shaking hands with old friends, and the prospective legislators each busy making new friends.

There were a number of delegates in the field for the honor of representing Bucks county at the State Convention but when the nominations were made the regular machine was put through with practically no opposition. Edmund Hemmery, of Hackensack, and Robert K. Jones, of Kestonville, were nominated in the Second district, but were withdrawn in favor of Hugh B. Baithorn.

The convention was called to order in Lehigh Hall by County Chairman Joseph W. Shelly. B. Frank Hobensack, of Warminster, was made permanent chairman on motion of B. F. Gilkeson. George W. McIntosh and J. Clinton Sellers, of Doylestown, acted as secretaries. After the call of the roll the following delegates were nominated and elected by acclamation: First District—Harvey D. Fellman, of Rihland; Second District—Hugh B. Baithorn, of Doylestown; Third District—Robert M. Gonsdale, of Newtown; Fourth District—Amos B. Headley, of Tullytown; delegate at large—B. F. Gilkeson.

It was then moved that a committee of five be appointed to draft a set of resolutions whereupon Mr. Gilkeson said that a set had already been prepared and Mr. George W. Strauser, of Bristol, was called upon to read them. Mr. Strauser began reading the resolutions from the floor of the hall, but after repeated calls mounted the platform and read them from that elevation. They are as follows:

The Republicans of Bucks County in convention assembled declare:
1. We reaffirm our adherence to the principles of the Republican party, which embody the true spirit of American democracy.
2. We contemplate with pride the revision of the revenue laws of the country, upon the lines of protection and in conformity with the pledges, which has been followed by a satisfactory struggle for the revenue, the income and a marked decrease in the various taxes imposed upon the people of this country.

We declare our unshaken confidence in the ability to maintain our national dignity and honor, and pledge to him our loyal co-operation and support.
3. We cordially endorse the able and patriotic administration of national affairs which has been a faithful discharge of the sacred trust confided to the Republican party by the people of the United States.
4. We cordially endorse the administration of Governor Daniel H. Hastings, and his faithful discharge of his duties as Governor of this State.

5. We congratulate the present Republican officials of the county on the satisfactory services they are rendering the people, thus reflecting credit upon the party which is responsible for their election and election.
6. We cordially endorse the candidacy of Hon. John Wanamaker for Governor of Pennsylvania, who by reason of his wide and varied experience, his intimate knowledge of public affairs, his high personal character, and his unswerving devotion to the principles of the Republican party, is pre-eminently qualified for that great office.
7. We hereby instruct the delegates this day elected to vote for him so long as his name shall be before the State Convention.
The resolutions were adopted on motion of Mr. Strauser. This first one, endorsing Mr. Wanamaker's candidacy for Governor, was the only one that met with any opposition, but it was carried by about two-thirds of the convention voting in its favor.

The resolutions upon the Cuban question, the endorsing of President McKinley's policy, and the efficiency with which Hon. Irving P. Wanger represented the Seventh Congressional district were loudly applauded.

Before the final vote on the adoption of the resolutions in a short speech Mr. Gilkeson spoke enthusiastically in behalf of the clause instructing the delegates to vote for Wanamaker. He said that although it was not necessary for him to have instructions to vote for Mr. Wanamaker, as that was his intention, such instructions would let the people of Pennsylvania know where Bucks county stood.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Good Roads Make Greater Values.
Editors Bucks County Gazette.—In Railway, yes in fact in Union county, the meandering roads have added largely to the value of real estate, and being not only a large owner of lands fronting on roads has improved, as well as selling for other people similar properties, the fact is beyond question that at a nominal cost in the way of taxes for interest on our county bonds of less than two dollars per thousand dollars of assessed valuation, the increase in value of the land proper, has been from 30 to 100 per cent and it is hard to sell farms at any price on the dirt roads, while those on good unimproved roads are readily sold (when offered) at prices that surprise even the owners, who frequently have the offer of such prices made them, although they had not put their properties in the market, and the temptation is frequently refused at that.

On St. George's avenue near Railway, in Linden township, the old Dr. Cris place was in the market many months at $5000, but no buyer could be had till the avenue was macadamized by the county and while the work was progressing an offer of $3000 was made and accepted for the farm, and to-day $12,500 will not buy it.

I sold another plot of ground on the same avenue three years ago for $2500 and recently offered for a client $4000 for the same plot and could not get it.

I could name a number of transactions of similar import but it would only emphasize what I have already stated.

The conflict in driving for pleasure is of course a consideration not to be overlooked, but as well as the fine highways for bicycle riders, but the farmers and the teamsters are made better drivers from the fact that they do not lose their tempers by getting their teams and loaded wagons "stuck in the mud" and consequently they are more careful of "cuss words" and when they return to their homes it is with happy thoughts and the old time amiable looks and notions are gone. All simply because we are keeping up with the age and improvement, and while we are getting all these benefits for ourselves, we are increasing the value of our holdings, tempting the city dwellers to learn that in the suburbs they can find not only the comforts of the city, but also the beauty and health of country life, and pure air, the latter being decidedly an advantage to those having growing children who are thus given nature's means of growing up strong, healthy men and women, relieved from the evils attendant city life as to their morals.

Say to your neighbors that if they do not without good roads, is to use the old saying, being "penny wise and pound foolish." The money expended in each hamlet every year in every road district, in "unrucking" the roads and clearing out ditches at the houses and clearing out the roads, is a thing, and I am informed that a good ten inch deep macadam can be put down for about a dollar a square yard or even less when the work is left open for competition by sealed proposals.

We have no "toll gates," as we have left that age so far behind us that we wonder how in the world the people ever got along with them, and the old mud roads. Have your roads put in modern shape and do it without doing any harm to your neighbors, so far distance you get the results of the places who neglect to keep up with the progression, will be distinguished by the mud on their shoes be pointed out and they will be called "stuck in the mud."

W. C. T. U. Convention.

Bucks County Convention.—The Spring Convention of the W. C. T. U. of Bucks County was held at Richboro, Saturday, April 18th, 1898.

The morning session opened promptly at 10:30 with the President in the chair. Mrs. George White, evangelist superintendent, conducted the devotionary exercises. The address of welcome was given by Miss Sue Stock of Richboro, Miss Foulke of Toms Park responding, both being very good and well rendered. Committees were then appointed, reports of Unions by Corresponding Secretary, and reports of the report, and Superintendent of Departments. The minutes of last Convention were then read, the chair sang the hymn, "A charge to keep I have," the time having arrived for our first prayer closed the morning business.

The afternoon session was held at 2 P. M. After a selection by the choir, Scripture reading, prayer by the pastor and another hymn by choir, the roll was called; reports followed by Executive and Credentials Committees, 21 responses being made.

The President then gave her annual address. She feels that we have two great things to settle and overcome, that of war with Spain and war with Alcohol. She indicated the solution of these by thoughtful prayer in the mind of the young entering upon the life of the years to come both the Demon of Drink and of War shall be overcome; she touched on a number of very important questions, her message to her sister workers was very helpful and encouraging. The business of the Convention was at this time held in a Memorial Service was held in memory of our dear daughter and President, each of the Local Presidents who had been present at the National Convention at which Frances R. Willard presided giving instructions of the meetings.

Miss White of Fallsington gave a poem in Memorial service entitled "Music" which was very touching, and was also the few words from the President. The closing prayer was assisted in this time by singing that beautiful hymn entitled "Sometimes We'll Understand."

This concluded the Memorial service and business was again taken up. Joseph Walcott, Professor of History and German at the West Chester Normal School, gave a very good talk on Impure Literature, and was the lecturer of the evening his subject being Patriotism. After the report on his subject was read the Convention was closed by singing the hymn, "The Church is the Body of Christ," and the Convention adjourned.

Two FOR genuine dollar's worth we believe Carpet MOQUETTE CARPETS Bargains are the cheapest carpets made. And that is so whether one compares them with the lowest priced tapestry or with the finest pile carpet made.

And yet, thousands of careless people have condemned Moquette Carpets, because they "shed." As a fact, this shedding is not an evidence of wear—but is simply the working out of the loose fibre that becomes imbedded in the pile when the carpet is being made.

As well think that a boy's hair was wearing out because shot ends can be brushed off after a hair-cut. We repeat: Moquette Carpets at usual full prices are cheapest Carpets to buy.
